Note.—This Return does not include the property acquired under the Defence Act, 1860, the Telegraph Acts, 1869 and 1869, and the Military Forces Localization Act, 1872, that property being rateable, and actually rated to the Local Rates.

* In addition to the contribution on this Rateable Value a further contribution of 913*l.* 17*s.* a year is to be given towards the lighting and maintenance of the footpaths on the park side of the roads surrounding the Park.
† The pasturage of the Parks being let and rateable is not included in this valuation.
‡ In addition to the contribution on this Rateable Value a further contribution of 107*l.* 18*s.* 4*d.* a year is to be given towards the lighting and paving of the road on the south side of Hyde Park and Kensington Gardens.

Return of each Parish containing Non-rateable Government Property, the Rateable Value of which for the purposes of the Treasury Contributions to the Local Rates has been fixed, &c.—contd.

| CHESTER    | On each occasion when the assessment of the whole county has been revised, a new Committee has been appointed, and until a fresh Committee is appointed, the powers of each Committee continue, and they make any partial revisions which changes of circumstances may from time to time require in the assessment of particular townships. | Occasionally, at the discretion of the Court of Quarter Sessions.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | As a general rule the assessment to the Property Tax, Schedule A, has been taken as the Basis of the County Rate Assessment, with a scale of deductions in respect of different classes of property. The assessment to the Poor Rate has been adopted in respect of property not included in Schedule A, and also in some particular instances where it was considered a better criterion of value. Valuers have not been appointed for many years past.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | On the last occasion of the revision of the Assessment for the County Rate, the chairmen of the different Union Assessment Committees were invited to meet, and many of them did accordingly meet the County Rate Assessment Committee to confer as to the draft assessment before it was finally adopted.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| CORNWALL   | The present County Rate Basis Committee, under 15 & 16 Vict. c. 81, were appointed in 1868 as a Standing Committee for the purpose of preparing a new Basis, and for altering and amending such Basis from time to time.                                                                                                                    | The Committee so appointed prepared a new Basis in 1868, which was confirmed at Quarter Sessions 5th January 1869. It has not since been revised, but the Committee contemplate a revision so soon as the Assessment Committees have settled their valuations under the recent Rateable Property Valuation Act. But before proceeding to revise the Basis the Committee will probably ask instructions from the Justices in Quarter Sessions. | In framing the new Basis the Committee did not appoint valuers, but to enable them to prepare it, they obtained Property Tax Returns, Union Valuation Lists, Land Tax Returns, and particulars of Title Rent-charge. Having these materials before them, they attended various parts of the county to receive information and suggestions from overseers, guardians, members of Assessment Committees and others. They then framed a proposed Basis, and sent copies to overseers of every parish, and times and places were appointed for hearing objections, which were accordingly received and considered. The proposed Basis, as finally revised, was then laid before Quarter Sessions, and there being no appeals against it, it was confirmed. There have not been any applications since to revise it. | There has not been any systematic plan of communication between the Committee and the Union Assessment Committees as to the rateable value of properties by a professional valuer. The clerks to the unions have, however, as required by the Union Assessment Committee Act, 1864, from time to time sent copies of the totals of Valuation Lists to the clerk of the peace, but they have been very remiss and dilatory in supplying these lists. For the year 1874 the clerk of the peace has, to the present time, received lists from only six out of 15 unions, whereas the lists should have been sent him from each union in December last. |
| CUMBERLAND | A Standing Committee -                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | Generally, every two years, at the discretion of the Committee, under the authority of the County Quarter Sessions.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | The valuations of the Poor Law Assessment Committees have been followed.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | No further than by receiving and examining the annual return made to the clerk of the peace by such Committees.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

| DURHAM                                 | Standing Committee                                                                                                                                                         | Revised from time to time, and since 1864a new Basis has been made every twoyears.                                                                           | When the annual returns of the rateablevalues are received from the clerks tothe Union Assessment Committees,they are compared with the rateablevalues of the existing Basis, and if notsatisfactory the overseers are requiredto attend the committee, and the ratebooks are examined, and, when neces-sary, the committee order the countyprofessional valuer (Mr. T. F. Hedley,Sunderland) to make valuations ofrailways, coal mines, docks, gas andwaterworks, ironworks, and other largeproperties. The valuer is paid a per-centage on the rateable values of theworks valued by him.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | Whenever valuations have been made byorder of the County Rate Committee,the particulars of such valuations havesystematically been communicated to theUnion Assessment Committee, or theOverseers of the Poor of the townshipsinterested. Three unions in the countyhave, within the last few years, appliedto the County Rate Committee, andasked them to instruct their valuer tomake valuations of special properties. |

| GLOUCESTER                             | Appointed annually, one from each PettySessional Division.                                                                                                             | Revised about every four years, at thediscretion of Quarter Sessions.                                                                                            | The Basis has been made by taking thegross of the last poor rate (if foundedupon a professional valuation), make adeduction from the gross to arrive atthe nature of the parish; if purely anagricultural parish, 5 per cent.; where considerable house property,7½ per cent.; where houses and buildings preponderate, 10 percent.; where mills, warehouses, and much poor or cottage pro-perty, 12½ to 20 per cent. When the valuation produced has notbeen satisfactory, a new one has been ordered; in case of non-compliance a competent valuer has been sent to value for countyrate; the costs of so doing have invariably fallen upon the pa-rishes, and levied with the county rate, the amount being in excessof the sums returned by the parishes. The rateable values returnedpursuant to 27 & 28 Vict. c. 39, s. 9, by the clerks of Assess-ment Committees, have been recently taken for the County RateBasis; but union is now complaining of union. | Where the returns show but little increasethe County Rate Committee have calledattention to the fact, and suggested anearly re-consideration of the assessmentsby the Union Assessment Committees.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

| KENT                     | The committee in this county is not a Standing Committee in form. It is appointed for one valuation only, but it is re-appointed almost every quarter.                                                      | - - - - - | The Basis is not revised at stated periods, but by the direction of the Court of Annual General Sessions; the committee is engaged nearly every quarter in considering what changes ought to be made.                                                                                      | Until the year 1873 the committee made the Basis on the returns of rateable property, the Valuation Lists of the parishes, and the occasional examination of overseers. In 1873 a new Basis was made on the Income Tax Valuation, Schedule A., allowing proper deductions according to the statute 32 &amp; 33 Vict. c. 67. Another Basis is in course of preparation, according to the last Income Tax Valuation.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |       | There has been no systematic plan of communication between the County Committee and the Union Assessment Committee. On one occasion the committee, being dissatisfied, a valuer was appointed under the Act to value the parish, and the parish was made to pay the expense of the valuation.           |
| LANCASTER                | The existing County Rate Basis Committee was appointed on the 29th December 1870, and remains a standing committee until a new valuation of the county is required, when a new committee will be appointed. | - - - - - | The re-valuation of the county is from time to time ordered to be made by the Court of Annual General Session, but there is no stated period wherein such proceedings must be taken, though it is understood that such re-valuation should be made as nearly as possible every five years. | The committee first ascertained, by the best evidence that was available to them, the actual rents of such property as was let to tenants, and by an analogy between the actual rents and the parochial assessments, they were enabled to decide as to the correctness of the latter assessment, both as regarded the property let to tenants, and that occupied by owners, and thus to form a fair estimate of the gross annual value of the property in the township. To arrive at the net annual value the committee made the following deductions from the gross value:—1. From the value of all lands, tithes, canals, navigations, docks, watercourses, reservoirs, quarries, delphs, and brickyards, one-twelfth; 2. From the value of all buildings (except farm buildings), mines, railways, and gas works, one-sixth. No valuers have been appointed. |       | The clerk to the Union Assessment Committee is always summoned to attend before the committee when any question relating to the rating of a township in his union is under consideration, and full information is required from him with regard to the rateable value of all property within the union. |

At another time the Valuations by Assessment Committees were adopted, but this did not meet the approval of the Court of Quarter Sessions. The last Basis was fixed partly upon the Assessment Committee's Valuations and partly on a valuation of special properties, the valuer being paid one per cent. on the increased value sustained by him, he being at the cost of defending any appeal brought against his valuation. | There has been none.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

| SOMERSET                   | There is at present an existing Committee, originally appointed at the Midsummer Session, 1864, which in April 1867 concluded their labours in making the existing County Rate, and that Committee was kept on foot for the purpose of meeting any partial changes that might periodically occur in the rateable value of portions of the property liable to be assessed. | The before-mentioned occasions having occurred, the Committee by order of the Epiphany Court of Quarter Sessions, 1873, re-assembled on the 1st February 1873, for the purpose of revising the Basis or Standard of the existing Rate ; several meetings took place to consider preliminary rules for the purpose of endeavouring to arrive at a uniform principle of rating, but in consequence of the intimation that Government intended to legislate further in the matter, the Committee have quarterly since that period only "reported progress." | The Valuations were made in 1864, upon Parochial Returns and the Income Tax, and when returns from parishes were not acceptable to the Committee, they appointed surveyors to value such parishes. The valuers were paid by the county, and the cost of valuation of each parish was recouped to the county by those parishes where the valuations of the surveyors exceeded the amounts returned by their authorities.                                                                                                                             | In 1864 the Clerks of the various Assessment Committees of the different Unions were summoned to attend the Committee, with the Lists of the Assessments of the parishes within their respective Unions. The Assessment Committees were not consulted upon the valuations ordered to be made by the Committee. In 1873 the Committee invited each Assessment Committee to delegate two gentlemen from their body to discuss with them general principles of assessment, and to ascertain their opinion on the scale of deductions from gross, to arrive at rateable value ; and on the 30th January 1875 the Committee again met, and were attended by one delegate from each Assessment Committee, for the purpose of obtaining, as far as practicable, an uniformity in the principles in the principles of action to be adopted by Assessment Committees in estimating the rateable value of Sporting Rights, to be assessed in accordance with the 37th & 38th Vict. c. 54. |

| SOUTHAMPTON                   | The first appointment of the Committee was for the purpose of making an entire re-assessment of the county; afterwards, a Standing Committee was appointed to revise the basis from time to time. | Not at stated periods, but occasionally, at the discretion of the Committee.                                                                             | Returns of Parish Valuations have been called for, and these have been compared with the Property Tax Assessments, and if found to nearly agree, the Parish Valuations have been accepted; but if the latter were found considerably below the assessments to Property Tax, then these assessments were adopted as a basis. No valuers have been appointed. | No communication has passed between the County Rate Basis Committee and the Union Assessment Committees as to the rateable value of any property.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

| WARWICK     | - | - | - | -                            | - | - | - | Occasionally, at the discretion of the Court of Quarter Sessions.                                                                                                                                                                      | The principle adopted in the years 1861 and 1871, has been to take the Property Tax Assessments; first making a deduction from the gross of 10 per cent. on land, and 20 per cent. on houses, and where the house assessment in any parish exceeded the assessment on land by two-thirds, a further deduction of 5 per cent. on houses; and then adding the rateable value of railways, canals, and other property not included in the Property Tax Assessments. | There has not.                                                                                                                                                               |
| WESTMORLAND | - | - | - | -                            | - | - | - | The County Rate Basis has been revised occasionally on the resolution of the Court of Quarter Sessions. In 1836, total value, 273,216 l. ; in 1856, total value 321,064 l. ; in 1871, total valuation, 431,193 l. | In 1856 the Committee had recourse to the overseers' returns and the Property Tax Assessments; no valuers were appointed.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | In 1871 the Committee communicated with clerks of the various Union Assessment Committees, without any properties being valued by a professional valuer.                     |
| WILTS       | - | - | - | -                            | - | - | - | Occasionally, not at stated periods; a revision was effected in the years 1871-2; another is now in progress.                                                                                                                          | The Assessment to the Property Tax was adapted as the foundation of the Committee's calculation; a scale of deductions settled by themselves was applied to this assessment after consultation with the Surveyors of Taxes, and consideration of local conditions by a sub-committee; no valuations have been made or ordered.                                                                                                                                   | See preceding Column.                                                                                                                                                        |
| WORCESTER   | - | - | - | -                            | - | - | - | Occasionally, at the discretion of the Court of Quarter Sessions; the interval between each general revision has been about five years.                                                                                                | No Valuation has been made in this county under s. 9 of 15 & 16 Vict. c. 81. The modus operandi of the Committee in arriving at the gross value, is to call for Returns of the Union and Income Tax Assessments, and to examine overseers, assessors, and others, as to actual rental; for the rateable value, deductions are then made on the various descriptions of property, according to a uniform scale settled by the Committee.                   | No, not further than is shown by answer to the third query. The Union Assessment Committees of this county have employed professional valuers only to a very limited extent. |

Returns showing whether the County Rate Basis Committees, appointed under 15 & 16 Vict. c. 81, have been appointed as Standing Committees, or for One Valuation only, &c.—contd.

MEMORANDUM.

THE present is the Fourth Annual Return of Local Taxation, the information for which has been collected by the Local Government Board.* It shows that the total sum raised in England during the year 1873-74 by Local Taxation properly so called, was £. 24,295,133, namely :—

|                                                                   | £.         |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| 1. Levied by Rates falling on rateable property - - - - -         | 19,821,209 |
| 2. Levied by Tolls, Dues, and Rents, falling on traffic - - - - - | 4,118,890  |
| 3. Levied by Duties falling on consumable articles - - - - -      | 355,034    |

The sums raised by loans or derived from other sources during the year in aid of Local Taxes amounted to £.13,123,677, making the total receipt £. 37,418,810. The aggregate disbursements for the same period amounted to £. 36,371,099. The total amount of Loans outstanding against the various Local Authorities at the close of the year, was £. 84,194,956, and these Loans are charged as follows, i. e. :—

|                                     | £.         |
|-------------------------------------|------------|
| On Rates - - - - -                  | 56,065,062 |
| On Tolls, Dues, and Rents - - - - - | 26,274,894 |
| On Duties - - - - -                 | 1,855,000  |
| £.                                  | 84,194,956 |

The gross estimated rental of the whole of the rateable property in England is £. 136,230,863, and the rateable value £. 115,492,013, so that the total amount charged upon rates, viz., £. 56,065,062, is less than one-half of the annual rateable value of the rateable property in the country. The Loans to the Harbour Authorities and those effected by the Corporation of the City of London are secured upon other descriptions of property, such as tolls, dues, and duties, &c.

In the present Return places under Town Improvement Acts, districts under Local Boards of Health, and Municipal Boroughs where the Town Council is the Sanitary Authority, have been all classed as Urban Sanitary Authorities, and are now arranged with reference to the Poor Law Union within which they are respectively situate. See p. 7, et seq.

The accounts of 844 Urban Sanitary Districts are summarised in the following pages. The Sanitary Authority in 192 of these districts is the Municipal Town Council; in 68 the Commissioners under an Improvement Act, and in 584 the Local Board of Health. The Rural Sanitary Districts are now for the first time returned in detail. The School Board rate and expenditure are also for the first time separately entered in the General Summary as given by Table I. hereunder. A few of the Town Councils make no distinction between their Municipal and Sanitary expenditure; these boroughs are indicated in the Return No. 409, Session 1875.

The sums received in aid of rates entered in the second money column of Table I. (p. iv), include the subventions paid out of the Imperial Revenue through Her Majesty's Treasury. The assisted rates were these:—

(a) No. 273.—"Chamber of London," Sess. 1874.

Compared with the Return of the previous year, the present shows a large increase in the Loan Debt principally secured upon Rates. This arises chiefly from some of the larger Boroughs having heretofore only rendered an account of those loans which they had raised upon the security of the Borough Fund or Borough Rate; omitting the moneys borrowed under Local Acts. It is believed the present abstract now shows the amount of all the outstanding loans.

The Total Revenue of the City of London, when the income derived from Local Taxation and from all other sources is brought to account, amounted, during the year 1873-74, to £. 1,416,251; that is inclusive of £. 458,407, the receipts under the Sewers Consolidated Rate Account, as given in the Annual Statement of the Chamberlain of the City of London, and entered among the Metropolitan Local Management Rates at page 2; also, that part of the income derived from the Coal and Wine Duties which is paid over to the Metropolitan Board of Works.
